Part 2.

What is Interreg

The audience should be informed about the basic data on the Programme (PL-UA/PBU) - financing structure, area, cross-border cooperation frame, successful projects in the region. The information should be adapted to the participants' awareness on the issue - if it is medium-high - please communicate rather the analysis of the previous programmes (challenges, resolutions, lessons learnt etc.). Highly informed participants may assist in sharing the basic information for enriching the discussion.

The participants were informed about key aspects of the Interreg NEXT Program, including the financial structure, the area of cross-border cooperation, and future plans. Specific examples of completed projects were also presented, and participants shared their experiences with their implementation. The information presented was flexibly adapted to the knowledge level of all participants, which enabled an effective approach to both people with more experience and those less familiar with the topic. Thanks to this, each participant could fully understand the presented issues. This flexibility also allowed everyone to be included in the discussion.

Experience of the region

Please indicate which PBU/PL-UA projects (or other CBC projects) implemented in the region proved most successful in the stakeholders' opinion, brought strongest results, had highest impact etc.

Projects related to road infrastructure and health care turned out to be among the most effective in the region. Investments in roads not only improved local communication, but also strengthened cross-border trade and population mobility. Better road connections facilitated access to services, which had a direct impact on the quality of life of residents on both sides of the border. Health care projects aimed to ensure equal access to health care and improve diagnostics, which raised the standards of medical care. Joint workshops, training and exchange of experiences were an integral part of all projects, which allowed to improve the qualifications of participants and strengthen cross-border cooperation. This made the implementation of these projects more effective and allowed us to better solve common challenges.

Particular attention was paid to security, where joint exercises of rescue services from both sides of the border significantly improved the ability to respond to crisis situations. The purchase of modern fire trucks additionally strengthened the intervention capabilities of the rescue services, which translated into greater safety of residents and better coordination in emergency situations.

Part 3.
